Gov. Bobby Jindal says the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers has opened up its roof–patching program for 13 parishes impacted by Hurricane Gustav. Under the program, the Corps puts up free blue tarps to cover roof damage as a temporary fix until repairs can be made.

Jindal says there's demand for 25,000 such tarps. If demand grows in other parishes, he says the Corps will be willing to expand the program.

More information is available at 1–888–ROOF–BLU.

The parishes covered under the Blue Roof program include Ascension, Assumption, East Baton Rouge, Iberville, Lafourche, Livingston, St. Charles, St. James, St. John the Baptist, St. Martin, St. Mary, Terrebone, and West Baton Rouge.

Urgent Appeal for Emergency Clean–up Buckets

The recent onslaught of coastal storms and flooding has created an urgent need for CWS Emergency Clean–up Buckets. The need for these kits will be even greater after the anticipated 20–foot storm surge from Hurricane Ike hits the Texas coastline this weekend.

"Church World Service has allocated all the buckets we had in the warehouse," said Lorette Wolf, director of Church of the Brethren Material Resources in New Windsor, Md. "We're down to a zero level and they don't have enough."

The buckets are kits that may be assembled by congregations, other groups, and individuals, and donated to the disaster clean–up effort.

Go to www.churchworldservice.org/kits/cleanup–kits.html for information about how to assemble the Emergency Clean–up Bucket kits.

The Mission:
When disaster strikes, Church of the Brethren Disaster Response provides volunteers to clean up debris and to repair or rebuild homes for disaster survivors who lack sufficient resources to hire a contractor or other paid labor. The presence of these volunteer work teams helps to ease the trauma that is felt in the aftermath of a disaster.

Each Church of the Brethren district has an appointed disaster coordinator who issues district–wide appeals for volunteers when they are needed for specific disaster response projects. The coordinators gather biennially in New Windsor to receive training in various aspects of disaster response and volunteer recruitment. Also, there are now several dozen trained, volunteer project directors who provide on–site management of the disaster projects.

Over the years, the Brethren have become known for providing capable, caring and hard–working volunteers on behalf of disaster survivors who are incapable of helping themselves. The existing records indicate that, from 1973 through 2001, Brethren Disaster Response initiated a total of 162 recovery projects following major disasters, mostly in the United States and US territories. And from 1978 through 2001, our gracious Lord has enabled 18,263 volunteers to answer the \call by sharing their talents for a total of 90,876 workdays, or 727,000 work hours, on disaster response projects. The total value of this donated labor in the present–day economy is $11,188,530.

9/5/08:

Just spoke to Aaron Funk. They are deploying to Baton Rouge and should arrive by 9/6/08. They will set up at least one kitchen in that location, and assess the need on arrival for any additional kitchens. They are also assessing The Houma Indian Nation in Terrebonne for hot meals needs.

They will have to double back to FL in 1 1/2 weeks to serve post Ike and are on standby for both Hanna and Ike.

ARRR is a grassroots emergency response network organized to provide first wave relief kitchens, safe drinking water, medical assistance, and a child safe playarea to communities immediately after a disaster.

We are dedicated to mobilizing our assets and resources toward these goals. Utilizing the collective experience of mass feeding in some of the most remote areas of the American wilderness. Coupled with the over whelming success of the New Waveland Cafe during the ultimate test of Katrina. We are prepared to respond.

Currently we are working to create a broad platform for other grassroots reliefs efforts to work in concert. During a disaster it can be very difficult to coordinate even the most basic logistics needed to actually deliver direct aid. We would like to invite other grassroots relief groups and community based organizations to join our network. We are much more powerful together than alone. And an efficient , coordinated, and comprehensive approach is the only way to guarantee success.

Food Bank Helps Tornado Victims in Eastern NC
POSTED: 8:42 pm EDT April 25, 2011
UPDATED: 9:10 pm EDT April 25, 2011
SOURCE: http://www.wcti12.com/news/27667946/detail.html
(ABC Channel 12)

The tornadoes on Saturday, April 16 have put the Food Bank of Central and Eastern North Carolina in the dual role of continuing its day to day hunger relief operations to 34 counties and assisting agencies affected by the natural disaster. The Food Bank is sending additional resources to the agencies affected by the powerful tornadoes; have extended hours for these organizations to access their warehouses for additional items and is making special deliveries directly to agencies affected. The list of disaster relief support continued this weekend as the Food Bank dispatched a truck from its Raleigh warehouse directly to one of their partner agencies, Good News Outreach, 3208 Oaks Road in New Bern. Good News Outreach reported a significant increase in service since the disaster, particularly in the Catfish Lake area. The Food Bank truck is loaded with four pallets of water, four pallets of snacks and two pallets of disaster relief boxes, totaling 13,000 pounds of food and relief items to the agency. In the past few days, great community support and donations from other areas of the country have allowed the Food Bank to provide the following for hard–hit agencies in Craven, Wake, Johnston, Lee, Harnett, Greene and Onslow counties: · 32 pallets of snacks, water, produce and frozen meat to Wake County agencies and American Red Cross facility in Johnston County– totaling more than 26,500 pounds · 20 pallets of produce, orange juice, water and canned goods to Lee County agencies – totaling 16,519 pounds · 10 pallets of produce, orange juice, water, dairy and bread from Greenville Branch to Greene County agencies – totaling 9,962 pounds · 10 pallets of produce, water and snacks to an agency in Harnett County – totaling 11,000 pounds · 10 pallets of water, snacks and relief boxes to an agency in New Bern County – totaling 13,000 lbs · Two deliveries from Greenville Branch to agencies in Onslow County – totaling 9,240 pounds · The American Red Cross in Greenville is storing 22 pallets of product in the Food Bank's Greenville warehouse.

FROM THE SITE 4/11:

FOOD BANK ASSESSES NEED, RESPONDS TO TORNADO

Tornado Relief 2011Every day, The Food Bank of Central & Eastern North Carolina responds to a crisis in its service area – hunger. The Food Bank serves as a conduit for accepting, sorting, packaging, storing, and distributing food and non–food essentials to more than 500,000 people at risk of hunger daily in its 34–county service area. As a first responder during times of a natural disaster, the Food Bank also reacts immediately to serve victims of tornadoes, hurricanes and floods throughout the southeast without disrupting regular food distribution in North Carolina.

Following the tornadoes hitting North Carolina on April 16, the Food Bank assessed its partner agencies (food pantries, rescue missions, soup kitchens, senior and child nutrition programs) in counties affected by the storm to determine how their distribution capabilities fared. The Food Bank has been in communication with the American Red Cross and North Carolina Voluntary Organizations Active in Disaster (NCVOAD). The organization has reached out to assist sister food banks in Elizabeth City, which serves Bertie County and in Fayetteville, which serves a portion of the Sandhills along with the Food Bank branch there. As a result of the initial assessment, Food Bank agencies in Wake, Lee, and Greene counties were hardest hit. The organization is sending additional resources to the agencies affected by the powerful tornadoes on Saturday, April 16; have extended hours for these organizations to shop for additional items and is making special deliveries directly to agencies affected.

Wake County saw unprecedented devastation due to Saturday's storm and many Wake County agencies served out of the Food Bank's main warehouse on Tarheel Drive in Raleigh have a high anticipation of increased need and are already supporting large numbers of individuals and families who are without power. Some of the agencies themselves are without power but still operating and still distributing to those who need assistance, even taking to the streets, supporting a trailer park community by distributing flyers to families with information of additional hours of distribution today.

Lee County, one of the hardest hit areas in North Carolina by Saturday's powerful storm, is served out of the Food Bank's Sandhills Branch. With one of the agencies serving as a designated day shelter for kids as a result of the storm, additional food donations will help meet the increased demands on their services.

In the Food Bank's Greenville Branch service area, one Greene County agency hit by the tornado also has an increased need for emergency food and non–food items.

During the week following the disaster, the Food Bank distributed more than 86,000 pounds of food to the relief effort. Great community support and donations from other areas of the country have allowed the Food Bank to provide the following for hard–hit agencies in Wake, Johnston, Lee, Harnett, Greene and Onslow counties:

* 39 pallets of snacks, water, produce and frozen meat to Wake County agencies and American Red Cross facility in Johnston County totaling more than 26,500 pounds
* 20 pallets of produce, orange juice, water and canned goods to Lee County agencies totaling 16,519 pounds
* 10 pallets of produce, orange juice, water, dairy and bread from Greenville Branch to Greene County agencies totaling 9,962 pounds
* 10 pallets of produce, water and snacks to an agency in Harnett County totaling 11,000 pounds
* 10 pallets of water, snacks and relief boxes to an agency in New Bern County totaling 13,000 lbs
* Two deliveries from Greenville Branch to agencies in Onslow County totaling 9,240 pounds
* The American Red Cross in Greenville is storing 22 pallets of product in the Food Bank's Greenville warehouse.

HOW YOU CAN HELP: FOOD DRIVES

Hosting a food drive at your business, school, neighborhood or faith–based organization will help us in our efforts to provide disaster relief to those most in need. Click on the links below to find out what you need to know about managing a food drive.

For more information, contact our Food Drive Coordinator.

FOOD DONATIONS:

Individual donations of food and non–food essentials are extremely helpful and critical to the overall relief effort. All donated items should be delivered to the Food Bank location nearest you.

The Food Bank cannot accept prepared meals for evacuees relocated to shelters in North Carolina. If you are interested in providing hot meals for these individuals contact Wake County Human Services at 919.212.9595.

Please keep the following suggestions in mind as you collect needed items to donate:

. Only use boxes that hold up to 50 lbs. in which to collect your items to be donated so that they may be easily lifted.
. Barrels do not make good collection containers, as they can weigh up to 800 pounds. . Relief organizations have found that it is often most practical to focus on one or two items that an organization says is needed rather than collect a variety of items and have boxes filled with mixed goods – please consider donating items in bulk.
. If possible, please consider donating cases of a particular food or non–food item. Cases are usually easier to sort, pack, and distribute than individual units. (For example: a case of peanut butter is easier to handle than individual jars of peanut butter). Pooling resources and focusing on single item donations are good ways to manage the higher costs of purchasing items by the case.
. Encourage food drives and food collections that focus on a specific type of item: Peanut Butter Drive, Cleaning Supplies Drive, Nutritional Snack Food Drive, etc.
. If holding a Baby Items Drive: please collect diapers, infant cereal, and formula. Please donate these items by the case, as loose glass or plastic jars of baby food will have to be discarded due to health regulations.
. Pre–sort foods into categories prior to delivery to Food Bank.
. Please DO NOT put cleaning supplies in the same box as food items.
. The Food Bank cannot accept clothing. Used clothing is rarely a useful item to collect for disaster relief as it is hard to clean, sort, pack, transport, store and distribute, and mounds of clothing take up valuable warehouse space. Donated used clothing frequently ends up being discarded.

CURRENT VOLUNTEER NEEDS:

The best way to volunteer for the Food Bank to help with the disaster relief effort is to host a food drive and deliver the collected items to the Food Bank location nearest you.
. If you have a truck or SUV and are willing to make local pickups and deliveries in your area, you can sign up to be an on–call volunteer driver. On–call drivers are required to go through an application process and driving record check. To sign up to be a volunteer driver, contact the volunteer coordinator in the Food Bank location nearest you.
. Tractor trailers are in great demand in disaster relief efforts. If you have a tractor trailer that can be scheduled to be used to help in the Food Bank's relief efforts, please contact Anna Davenport, Food Resources Manager for the Food Bank:

adavenport@foodbankcenc.org
. Greenville Branch – Volunteers are needed to sort food drive items destined for the victims in the affected areas. The Food Bank is open Monday through Friday 8am – 4pm, Wednesday 6pm – 8pm, and Saturday 9am – 1pm, and other times as needed. ALERTS! HURRICANE Hanna 2008 UPDATE 09.04.08

HURRICANE 2008 UPDATE
With the track of Hurricane Hannah heading towards the East coast, we urge all SART volunteers to access their information in the SART website and review it for updates on contact numbers, certifications and trainings. SART will post updates and mission request on the SART website, so please review the website for the latest information. When the State Emergency Operations Center (EOC) is activated, SART will have a representative in the EOC providing updates as well.

REMEMBER..... please prepare for your family and pets now if you plan to offer assistance during the storm. Do Not self deploy, but sign up to be a part of an approved mission from State Emergency Management or Agriculture.

State Animal Response Teams (SART) are interagency state organizations dedicated to preparing, planning, responding and recovering during animal emergencies in the United States. SART is a public private partnership, joining government agencies with the private concerns around the common goal of animal issues during disasters. SART programs train participants to facilitate a safe, environmentally sound and efficient response to animal emergencies on the local, county, state and federal level. The teams are organized under the auspices of state and local emergency management utilizing the principles of the Incident Command System (ICS).

WHO WE HELP
SART brings together individuals and organizations from a broad range of animal interest, united around the common goal of preventing and responding to animal emergencies. These SART entities recognize the critical role of animals in our society, and their value. SART helps focus these efforts on what unites, rather than divides them. All SART entities are strongly encouraged to utilize the resources here to prevent and mitigate disasters.

SART is typically organized at the local level as County Animal Response Teams (CARTs). In states that do not have a county structure, we use other local designations as appropriate.

Go to this Map to see where SART established and where they are in the development stage: http://www.ncsart.org/

Episcopal Relief & Development Reaches Out to Partners in Hurricane's Path

November 20, 2012

Eight deacons from the Episcopal Diocese of New Jersey gathered at the diocesan center in Trenton on November 19 to learn how to facilitate FEMA (Federal Emergency Management Administration) disaster assistance registration. The training was held by members of Episcopal Relief & Development's US Disaster Program and Partners in Response team as part of the organization's response to Hurricane Sandy.

December 31 is the deadline for registering with FEMA. Individuals in impacted areas should first check the published disaster declarations to see if their county is eligible for federal assistance. Once eligibility is established, residents should register with FEMA before December 31 in order to be able to apply for assistance as it becomes available.

"FEMA registration is fairly straightforward, but getting people to jump into the process can be a challenge" said Dave Baylor, Diocesan Disaster Coordinator for the Episcopal Diocese of Olympia and member of the Partners in Response team. "Some people just need encouragement, but others need assistance filling out the forms or getting their materials organized ahead of time. This is where deacons and parish volunteers can really be of help."

Deacons from around the diocese were encouraged to identify and recruit volunteers from their congregations who could accompany people through application processes for disaster assistance funds, including from FEMA, insurance agencies and others.

The FEMA registration assistance training session in New Jersey came at the end of a week–long visit by members of the Partners in Response team to areas that were impacted by Sandy. Episcopal Relief & Development is also working with the Episcopal dioceses of New York, Long Island, Newark and Connecticut. In addition, the agency continues to support its Church partners in the Caribbean as they distribute water, food and supplies for home reconstruction.

The immediate relief phase of the response is now winding down, but the need for local volunteers, cleaning supplies, construction materials, furniture and appliances will continue well into the recovery phase. Please support these efforts by contributing to the Hurricane Sandy Response Fund, which will ensure that help reaches where it is most needed.
