~ UPDATE ~ 13/05/16

Edmonton Humane Society

EHS continues to provide support to organizations helping Wood Buffalo evacuees and pets. EHS has supplied food, resources, and equipment, in addition to over fifty volunteers dedicated to pet care and enrichment at evacuation sites within the City of Edmonton. EHS has raised funds for disaster relief, and continues to serve as a donation site for the general public.

Proceeds raised by the Edmonton Humane Society in relation to the Fort McMurray Wildfires will be used to pay for relief efforts to assist animals that are affected. Any funds raised in excess of our fundraising goal may be directed to the Edmonton Humane Society's Sick & Injured Animal Fund.

Alberta SPCA

ANIMAL RESCUE UPDATE

Friday morning numbers from the Fort McMurray People and Animal Reunion Centre in Edmonton:

892 animals checked in and health–checked
363 animals reunited with their owners
286 animals scheduled for reunions

Please stay tuned to the Alberta SPCA's Facebook page for more updates.
~ UPDATE ~ 10/05/16

From Edmonton Humane Society

We continue to supply resources to the Alberta SPCA and our partner agencies for the rescue efforts in the municipality of Wood Buffalo. We are in urgent need of the following items:

large towels
M + L plastic kennels
collars + leashes

We are taking in any strays that arrive at our facility as a result of the wildfires.

Please check our lost animals page for any stray pets who come into our care. You can donate to EHS' efforts here.

From Alberta SPCA

Crews are working to rescue animals from the Fort McMurray area.

If you have a pet that was left in Fort McMurray during the evacuation, please fill out the Rescue Request Form which allows AB SPCA to reunite pets and owners faster: http://bit.ly/1YihunH

You can donate to AB SPCA's efforts here.
~ UPDATE ~ 09/05/16

From Edmonton Humane Society:

Our most critical donation need is large/extra–large plastic crates. Please bring directly to the shelter.

From Alberta SPCA:

Fort McMurray Animal Update

The first transport of rescued animals from Fort McMurray arrived at the Alberta SPCA's reception centre in Edmonton early this morning.

More than 200 animals were checked through the intake and triage areas by volunteers from the Edmonton Humane Society and the Alberta Spay Neuter Task Force. Most of the morning's arrivals are cats. There are also many dogs.

The rescue teams in Fort McMurray—the Regional Municipality of Wood Buffalo Animal Control Officers, the peace officers up there from the Alberta SPCA and the Calgary Humane Society, the volunteers from theAlberta Animal Rescue Crew Society – AARCS—were overjoyed to hear that the first truck arrived with all its occupants safe and accounted for.

Each animal arrived with its owner identified. The Alberta SPCA will contact the owners as soon as possible to arrange their reunion with their pets.

Teams are making efforts to rescue all animals from the area. Filling out the municipality's pet rescue form allows for animals to be matched with their owners faster.
~ UPDATE ~ 06/05/16

From Edmonton Humane Society:

We are still accepting all donations for wildfire relief EXCEPT FOOD. We have a large volume of food and cannot house more. THANK YOU.

From Alberta SPCA:

Emergency Pet Rescues in Fort McMurray

Peace officers from the Alberta SPCA and the Calgary Humane Society have been working tirelessly in Fort McMurray to help the Wood Buffalo Animal Control Services with the rescue of as many animals as possible.

Phase 2 of the animal response plan has been in operation for nearly two days.

The extraction teams, each led by an experienced animal protection peace officer, have been moving from house to house. They have fed, watered, assessed and removed hundreds of animals to the staging area. The peace officers and their teams have training and experience in dealing with animal rescues and are equipped to handle emergency situations.

The rescued animals are then being transported to a facility set up in Edmonton by the Alberta SPCA with the assistance of the Edmonton Humane Society, the Alberta Veterinary Medical Association and the Alberta Spay Neuter Task Force.

We would like to thank all of the volunteers and rescue groups who have assisted in these efforts in Fort McMurray.

Previously, emergency responders had provided water, food and care for animals they encountered while they worked to ensure the safety of the area for the animal rescue teams.

If you were forced to abandon your pet during the evacuation of the Fort McMurray area, please ensure you have filled out the Emergency Pet Rescue Request form

We will provide updates as soon as they are available.
~ UPDATE ~ 06/05/16

WE NEED XL CRATES — HAVE FOOD TO GIVE AWAY!

We have a dire need for EXTRA large kennels/carriers — please donate directly to the Edmonton Humane Society.

We have A LOT of pet food to give away. PLEASE come to the shelter if you are in need as a result of the WILDFIRES.

Please be prepared to show proof of address in the Regional Municipality of Wood Buffalo.

Donation drop–off / pick–up hours:

8 am – 6 pm weekends
8 am – 8 pm weekdays

13620 163 Street NW
~ UPDATE ~ 05/05/16

We are grateful for the outpouring of community support for the people and pets impacted by the Alberta wildfires.

Local businesses have stepped up in a big way, providing donations of food, supplies, and money.

We have pallets waiting to be delivered up north, where supplies will be dispersed as needed. We are in constant contact with the Regional Municipality of Wood Buffalo, and have teams on standby to help when it is safe to proceed.

The Edmonton Humane Society (EHS) and the Animal Care & Control Centre – Edmonton (ACCC) are working closely with the Alberta SPCA and the Alberta Veterinary Medical Association to assist evacuees and their companion animals who have been displaced due to the Fort McMurray wildfires.

EHS is ready to accept displaced animals WITHOUT owners. Animals WITH owners should proceed to Edmonton Expo Centre for registration. Evacuees do not need to go to the reception centre if they are staying with friends or family in Edmonton or have arranged other accommodation in Edmonton. It is recommended that evacuees provide their name, location and confirmation of safety with the Red Cross through its family reunification phone number (1–888–350–6070) and/or the Municipality of Wood Buffalo wildfire@rmwb.ca. Stray animals that come into our care will be housed indefinitely until they are reclaimed.

In addition to Animal Care and Control, EHS is partnering with the following Alberta humane societies (to act as overflow locations if/when EHS reaches capacity):

Calgary Humane Society
Red Deer & District SPCA
Cochrane & Area Humane Society
Lloydminster and District SPCA
Hinton and District SPCA
Grande Prairie & District SPCA

If you have a pet left in the Wood Buffalo region, please fill out this form or call 780 229 2939.

For all livestock inquiries, contact the Alberta SPCA.

EHS will accept monetary donations through our Disaster Fund; we will also accept any and all donations of food and supplies directly at the shelter.

We do not require any additional volunteer support or foster homes at this time. However, we are taking names for potential foster homes should the need arise. To add yourself to this list, please fill out the form.

Updated May 16, 2016

The City of Edmonton is providing support to Fort McMurray and the Regional Municipality of Wood Buffalo as the area is ravaged by wildfire and the residents are forced to evacuate.

Edmonton Fire Rescue Services has sent firefighters, equipment and vehicles to help fight the wildfires. Edmonton Transit, the City's Fleet Services and other special services are also assisting in the effort.

In Edmonton, the City's Emergency Support Response Team has established a Reception Centre for evacuees, and is providing a range of services and supplies.

Edmontonians have demonstrated a spirit of caring, unparalleled in the world. Citizens are going above and beyond to offer help. The City invites people to provide assistance where it is most needed.

Fire Fighting Support

The City continues to provide support to the Fort McMurray firefighting efforts with approximately 36 personnel from Edmonton Fire Rescue Services plus mechanic and transit support.
City of Edmonton Reception Centre

The City of Edmonton's Emergency Support Response Team opened a temporary reception centre for evacuees from Fort McMurray who are in need of accommodation. The City of Edmonton Reception Centre is at Northlands, Expo Centre. The City is providing clothing, toiletries, diapers and formula, food, lodging and lodging services, and counseling services. Animal Care is on site to care for pets. City of Edmonton IT is setting up laptops and iPads at the centre so evacuees can connect with family and loved ones. The City is also making social workers available to help the people traumatized by the fire and their need to flee their homes. Red Cross is also on site to provide other kinds of assistance people may need. Other agencies and groups are starting to offer assistance as well – including food, clothing, shelter.

As of 9am Monday, May 16, 18,000 people have visited the Reception Centre, 15,097 people have registered their information and 200 people are being lodged at the centre. The capacity of the City of Edmonton Reception Centre is more than 5,000.

Many people are checking in and then going to other accommodations to stay with friends and family, or hotels.

There is space available at Northlands and other locations, if we need to accommodate more people.

Services being provided include:

Food, shelter
Personal needs
Clothing
Medical and mental health support services
Spiritual and cultural support – e.g prayer rooms
Insurance companies on site
Large screen TV with news and updates
Entertainment and activities for children

Other City Supports

Digital road signage to help drivers find their way to the Emergency Reception Centre
Route 747 is available for free one–way travel from the airport to Century Park.
Free ETS bus passes
Free admission to recreation centres and some major City attractions
Coordination of donations from cities across the country
Liaison and information–sharing with eight other concerned Alberta municipalities
Liaison with partner agencies, including Red Cross and Edmonton Emergency Relief Services

A lot of people are looking to help after the ferocious wildfire in Fort McMurray.

Here's an up-to-date list of various agencies and resources, provided by the Alberta government.

For the latest news, follow CBC's live blog for more details and up-to-the-minute news about the Fort McMurray wildfire.

Canadian Red Cross

The Red Cross has set up an emergency 'Alberta Fires' appeal page for financial donations. You can also visit any Canadian Red Cross office or call 1-800-418-1111. And you can text REDCROSS to 30333 to make a $5 donation, or text FIRES to 45678 to make a $10 donation.

The agency says Canadians have so far donated $44 million in support of relief efforts. On Thursday, Prime Minister Justin Trudeau said the federal government will match individual donations made to the Canadian Red Cross. The following day, he said the government will not put a financial cap on donations made from May 3 to 31.

For Fort McMurray evacuees who have not yet registered with the Red Cross, the agency is strongly encouraging them to register online or call 1-888-350-6070.

This site aims to help pair Albertans able to open their homes, rental properties, recreational properties, and other available space to people in need of somewhere to stay.
Edmonton Emergency Relief Services

Edmonton Emergency Relief Services are putting out a call for donations and volunteers. Specifically, they are collecting diapers, baby wipes, NEW toiletries (such as soap, shampoo, tampons, toothpaste etc.) and NEW socks and underwear.

Donation and volunteers to hangar #2 3631 – 56 Ave East (Edmonton International Airport). Information is on their Facebook page.

If you'd like to volunteer, please call 780-428-4422. Please leave a message, and they'll get back to you.

Edmonton Food Bank

The Edmonton Food Bank is accepting donations for those affected by the Fort McMurray fires.

Donations of food may be left at any major grocery store or fire hall. You can also make monetary donations through the food bank's website. Follow them on Facebook for updates about how to donate for those with special dietary needs.
Fort Mac Recovers

This site is designed to facilitate community preparedness and recovery. Residents can request help, and others can sign up to donate and volunteer.

If you'd like to donate you'll be asked to list the type of donation you're able to give (toothbrushes, baby food, shelter, etc.) and enter contact information, and an organizer will contact you when your donation is needed.

Also, sign up to volunteer, and an organizer will be in touch when the clean-up and recovery efforts are needed.
