A dynamic, hands–on organization, Community Resource Group (CRG) works in rural areas to expand the opportunities for families to build assets, improve their lives, and strengthen their communities. Our work focuses on the basics: safe drinking water, affordable housing, employment transportation, and access to credit. For more than thirty years, CRG has successfully crafted innovative solutions and programs across the southern United States, giving rural communities and hardworking families a hand in building a better future.

Community Resource Group is headquartered in Fayetteville, Arkansas, and currently serves the states of Alabama, Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Oklahoma, Tennessee, and Texas.

CRG works to create asset–building opportunities for low–income families through:

– affordable new home construction,
– home improvement lending,
– resident ownership of manufactured home parks,
– reliable, and affordable, used cars for families moving from welfare to work, and – affordable home mortgage lending and origination.

Rural community infrastructure assets are protected through CRG's:

– water and wastewater system onsite technical assistance,
– training and education programs for water system boards and staff,
– publication and dissemination of electronic and paper technical bulletins,
– lending to water systems for capital improvements, and – loan leveraging and bond origination services.

Red Cross Gather Emergency Supplies For Mena
POSTED: 11:55 am CDT April 10, 2009
UPDATED: 1:06 pm CDT April 10, 2009

FORT SMITH, Ark. –– Emergency aid is already being gathered and sent to Mena. The Red Cross in Fort Smith gathered up some needed supplies Friday morning.

They were busy stocking up on primary supplies including water, tarps and toilettes.

Right now the Western Arkansas division is serving in a support role for its sister unit in southern Arkansas.

The Red Cross is sending down its disaster relief emergency response vehicles.

Friday morning, workers were stocking up on water. The Lowe's home improvement store in Fort Smith even stepped in, donating a pallet of water and tarps to help protect homes damaged by the tornado from further water damage, as rain is expected this weekend.

The Red Cross is also sending down cots, blankets and comfort kits filled with toiletries.

Susan Kafft is the director of the Red Cross Western Arkansas Service Center. She said communication in Mena was difficult, which was causing concern for those who have relatives in the area.

She said the Red Cross on the ground in Mena were working on setting up a communication network to get relatives in touch with each other.

"Right now, we've got people who've lost everything they own, and you get to a point where you don't know where to start, and so for us we'll start with the basics food and shelter: a safe warm place to stay, some things to eat and some basics," Krafft said.

The Red Cross office has been flooded with calls from people wanting to volunteer their time in Mena, but emergency crews are still trying to stabilize the situation, Krafft said.

They're asking people who want to help to donate water, tarps, blankets and toiletries. Those are the items desperately needed right now.

Those wanting to donate can drop those items off at the Fort Smith Red Cross, which is located at 1709 Greenwood Avenue.

June 2010 last update –

http://judsoniachurchofchrist.org/haiti.html

We have just cleared four more containers and the brethren in Gonaives are distributing these commodities. With the clearance of these four containers reported below, we have collected, loaded, shipped and cleared TWENTY-TWO forty foot cargo containers. We have been able to do this and have successfully shipped in, to date, 1,093,932 pounds of food, personal hygiene bags, family buckets, and miscellaneous items for orphans. And this was accomplished at a cost of approximately $75,000.00 (I will get an updated financial report out as soon as possible but I just have not had time). This means we have been able to utilize the funds sent to us for the earthquake relief to purchase and deliver rice and beans for FOUTEEEN CENTS PER POUND!

Thus far the Lord's Church has been able to collect and ship OVER ONE-MILLION pounds of food and relief supplies! Continue to pray for our brethren in Gonaives that are coordinating the distribution of these commodities. As David observes in the attached these successes are possible because of the great cooperation of the Hope for Haiti Children organization. Our brother Jeantyard

Elmera spent hours at the customs director and the Finance Ministry working with Pacius to get all of the proper papers and to help strategize how to get the job accomplished.

Disaster Relief

Whether we like it or not disasters do strike our state and the region around us. Since hurricane Katrina the state of Arkansas has continued to improve and expand its ability to react. Hunger relief is a major part of any disaster relief effort. The Alliance provides coordination and communication between its food bank members, their agencies and other volunteer organizations during times of disaster to help expedite the distribution of food and water to local communities in need.

The Arkansas Hunger Relief Alliance is also a member of the Arkansas Volunteer Organizations Active in Disasters. The VOAD serves as the conduit to coordinate the hunger relief effort with other volunteer, state and federal efforts throughout the state during disasters. The Executive Director of the Alliance plays an active role with the Arkansas VOAD as a member of the executive team. To find out more about the Arkansas VOAD go to their website.

In a press release, the Rice Depot says they have flood buckets available and emergency meal kits for those affected. Disaster workers are also on the scene to help in any way they can.

They are also asking for volunteers to assemble disaster kits and other emergency supplies. An array of suggested emergency kit contents is listed here:

Disaster Relief Kits

Arkansas Rice Depot distributes Disaster Relief kits to disaster victims to help them get through a very tough time. Kits are also given to children in need whose parents don't provide their basic needs. The kits provide comfort and a boost in self–confidence during what can be a very dark time. Your group can help us by assembling kits. We provide disaster victims with two types of kits: health kits and meal kits. Health kits provide soap, toothpaste and other personal hygiene supplies that may be lost in a storm. Food kits provide shelf–stable food so that a family can eat when they're stuck in a motel with only a microwave, or working long hours at their property with no time for a meal break.

Relief and long–term recovery after disasters

In times of disaster, the Catholic parish community is here to help throughout Arkansas. Relief and recovery services are provided at the local level by volunteer parish disaster response teams who are trained in disaster case management and long–term recovery.

* If you are a victim of a recent natural disaster, go to Disaster Resources: http://www.dolr.org/offices/catholiccharities/disasterresponse_disasterresources.php

The Catholic Charities of Arkansas Disaster Response Office coordinates the Diocese of Little Rock's response to disasters in Arkansas and parish response teams receive funding to assist disaster victims with their recovery needs.

* If you wish to help disaster victims, go to Donate Now: http://www.dolr.org/offices/catholiccharities/disasterresponse_donatenow.php

The Disaster Response Office directs the diocese's disaster recovery efforts. Volunteer parish response teams are being continually trained to do case management and assist disaster victims on a long–term basis. Training is being handled through the Parish Social Ministry Office.

From the 2005 hurricanes in the Gulf that brought evacuees to Arkansas, to winter ice storms, spring tornadoes and the potential for future earthquakes, Catholic Charities of Arkansas and parish disaster teams throughout the Diocese of Little Rock are trained and prepared to respond to disasters with compassion and commitment. This office and the parish disaster teams provide assistance regardless of race, religion, creed or socio–economic status.

* To learn more, go to Disaster Recovery Services.

Hundreds of Mena residents were displaced by the storm. About 600 homes are reportedly damaged, with many uninhabitable, Polk County Judge Roy Stanley said Friday.

A number found refuge at the Family Life Center of Dallas Avenue Baptist Church.

Pastor Donnie Edwards said he was checking on church property and members in the aftermath of the tornado when he was called to the church in response to reports people were lined up at the doors. He said the church has offered to serve as a temporary shelter in emergencies.

“We’re a mission–minded church,” Edwards said, noting several church members earned experience on a 10–day mission to the New Orleans area following Hurricane Katrina.

Friday, the church was providing food and shelter to those whose homes are destroyed or too damaged to live in. They also provided temporary space for numerous people who were forced from the central part of town following the storm, or who had left and were unable to return until emergency officials had addressed downed lines, gas leaks and other storm hazards.

Volunteers — many who spent the night responding to calls for help — were also given meals and rest at the church.

Edwards said he has been stunned by the offers of help from numerous sources. Donations of food have come in from both corporations like Tyson Foods and Walmart and from “mom and pop” businesses, individuals and groups.

Easter Sunday on Hold for Many in Mena
Churches say Services Still Scheduled
Russell Jones Reporter
April 11, 2009

MENA, Ark. – After Thursday's tornado, many family's Easter plans are on hold while they sift through their damaged homes.

Wayne and Jennifer Madison said when the tornado sirens went off, they didn't want to risk staying in their apartment near City Hall, so they moved to a place they knew was secure; an old bank vault down the street.

"His dad's studio used to be an old bank and when they tore it down they left the bank vault in there, door and all," said Jennifer on Saturday.

"I was standing right inside the front door when it went by, and it sounded like... two or three trains going by," said Wayne.

The Madisons said they'd been in the apartment, their first, for about four months; now, it's been deemed unlivable after the tornado took off half the building's roof.

"We'd planned on spending our first Easter there, and now... not so much," said Jennifer.

Meanwhile, the city's churches escaped much of the damage that affected the rest of the city, and say they have plenty of room for anyone that needs a place to go on Easter Sunday.

"We usually have an Easter Egg hunt, but we had it last week... There were almost 500 people that came out, so thank God that we did that last week, not this week," said Pastor Donnie Edwards with the Dallas Avenue Baptist Church.

Edward's church has also opened as a shelter for people whose homes have been damaged, or are in the area volunteering to help clean up debris. Tyson Foods Inc. also donated two trucks full of chicken and volunteers to grill it, so the church could hand out meals to people around the area.

"We're feeding tornado victims, we're feeding volunteers, we're feeding officials, just anyone that needs it... and we're not just waiting on them, we're taking it out into the hardest-hit areas," said Edwards.

More than 150 volunteers from out-of-state churches are also expected to stay at Dallas Avenue First Baptist when they arrive Monday to help with the cleanup.

--Do you appreciate NO-KILL shelters such as ours who provide clean and safe housing for homeless pets?

--Do you feel compassion for the needs of homeless pets?

––Do you have a "Best Furry Friend" of your own that came into your life in a 'magical way' via a shelter visit, or one that showed up on your doorstep?

If you answered "Yes" to any of these questions, you will enjoy our website!

We are the Humane Society of the Ouachitas (HSO) a non–profit, NO–KILL shelter, and we invite you to browse and get to know us! We also invite you to register with our site (at the left side) and you will have access to more cool stuff, from browsing our pet list, browsing our 'special pets of the week', checking out our events such as our spay/neuter clinics, including helpful hints for your pets, and an invitation to enter our FREE contests when we schedule them!

Registration is fast and we only ask for your email address. (We do NOT give your address out to anyone.) Once you register, you will receive an email from us explaining how to complete your registration.

HELP KEEP OUR SHELTER CATS HEALTHY!
The Humane Society of the Ouachitas is currently requesting donations to purchase a 9–cage bank of steel isolation cages for cats. This is desperately needed to insure that healthy cats stay healthy and sick cats are quickly identified and given appropriate care.

The cost to purchase a 9–cage bank is $1016.55.

Cat lovers, please consider making a donation to this fund. This is an Emergency Request as the cage bank should be purchased as soon as possible.

THANK YOU!

Arkansas Rice Depot, Salvation Army among disaster relief responders
http://www.todaysthv.com/news/local/story.aspx?storyid=106397&catid=2

The Arkansas Rice Depot, Salvation Army and the Arkansas chapter of the American Red Cross are all sending relief aid to Montgomery County in the aftermath of overnight flash flooding.

As of now, responders have found 16 dead at the Albert Pike Recreational Campgrounds.

In a press release, the Rice Depot says they have flood buckets available and emergency meal kits for those affected. Disaster workers are also on the scene to help in any way they can.

They are also asking for volunteers to assemble disaster kits and other emergency supplies. A array of suggested emergency kit contents is listed here. Call 501–565–8855 for more information.

The Salvation Army is working to establish an incident command center in the Langley Post Office. They have been asked to provide food and emotional support to both first responders and flood victims.

Congressman Mike Ross says that family members looking for information on loved ones can call the Red Cross (501) 748–1010.

FLASH FLOODING ALONG THE LITTLE MISSOURI RIVER

North Little Rock - The State's Emergency Operations Center (SEOC) at the Arkansas Department of Emergency Management (ADEM) is monitoring the flooding events at the Little Missouri River along the Pike and Montgomery County line.
Flash flooding in the area has left campers stranded and search and rescue teams from Montgomery, Pike and Clark Counties are working the area. At this time they have rescued approximately 30 people.

Arkansas State Police reported 14 fatalities by early afternoon.

"Saving lives is priority number one, ADEM is ready to assist in providing as many resources as it takes to rescue those stranded," said ADEM Deputy Director Jay Winters.

Because of the lack of cell service in the area, ADEM has sent AWIN radios and satellite phones so responders are able to communicate with each other.
Dr. Bill Mason, Public Health Preparedness Branch Chief said, "This is a terrible tragedy and the Arkansas Department of Health (ADH) has plans for assisting with disaster recovery efforts. This includes identifying and arranging transport of deceased individuals. In addition, the ADH Emergency Medical Services Section is on standby. Two adjoining ambulance services have been sent through county mutual aid to affected perimeters. We have other regional ambulance services ready, if needed."

After the emergency phase of the incident, the ADH will assist any well owners in the affected areas with sanitizing and testing of water wells and other environmental concerns.

The Arkansas Red Cross has mental health workers and food stations on scene to assist with the needs of both survivors and responders.

Free Legal Services Available To Those Affected By The April 9 Severe Storms And Tornadoes
Release Date: May 13, 2009
Release Number: 1834-024

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. - In the aftermath of the severe storms and tornadoes of April 9, disaster-affected residents may find they need help with disaster-related legal issues. Free legal advice and referrals are available for those who may need assistance.

The Arkansas Bar Association in association with the American Bar Association's Young Lawyer Division-made up of attorneys who volunteer their time and knowledge-can offer advice on issues involving landlord/tenant problems, disaster-related contract matters, insurance, replacement of legal documents, counseling on mortgage foreclosure, and a number of other concerns.

The contact number is 877-321-8815. When you call, you will be asked to leave your name and phone number. An attorney will then call you back as soon as possible; 877-321-8815 is operational daily around the clock.

No member of the volunteer attorney group will accept fee-generating cases. Their services are authorized only to assist in resolving issues arising out of the disaster.

FEMA leads and supports the nation in a risk-based, comprehensive emergency management system of preparedness, protection, response, recovery, and mitigation, to reduce the loss of life and property and protect the nation from all hazards including natural disasters, acts of terrorism, and other man-made disasters.

Mission of the Arkansas Earthquake Center

During the past few years, the Arkansas Department of Emergency Management (ADEM) and the University of Arkansas at Little Rock (UALR) have established a collaborative program to assist the state of Arkansas in Hazard Mitigation Planning and Public Education. Through this program, the Arkansas Center for Earthquake Education and Technology Transfer (ACEETT) has set three distinct but overlapping tasks for its mission. These include (1) public education, (2) hazard mitigation and (3) scientific research. Each of these tasks will work toward the Project Impact goal of making communities more disaster resistant. Currently, ACEETT is collaborating with other regional centers (e.g., St. Louis University, Memphis State University, USGS, and CUSEC) to accomplish its mission. The ACEETT staff and a number of UALR faculty have committed to actively participate in FEMA's Project Impact.

CUSEC serves as a "coordinating hub" for the region, performing the critical role of coordinating the multi-state efforts of the central region. Its coordinating role is largely facilitative and not as the primary implementer of emergency management functions which is the responsibility of each individual state.
