EAST AFRICA CRISIS APPEAL

More than 10 million people in Ethiopia, Kenya, Somalia, and the newly–formed Republic of South Sudan have been left in need of food, water and emergency healthcare because of one of the worst droughts in 60 years. Hundreds of thousands of people have fled Somalia due to the drought and conflict, parts of the country are now afflicted by famine.

CRISIS UPDATES: http://dec.org.uk./appeals/east–africa–crisis–appeal

FAMINE IN SOMALIA
DEC member agencies are continuing to scale up their work in south and central Somalia in response to what the UN has now recognised as the first famine in the region since south Sudan in 1998. The people in Bakool and Lower Shabelle are suffering from severe malnutrition with other areas expected to follow in as little as eight weeks as more information becomes available and the situation continues to deteriorate.

Malnutrition rates are above 50 per cent in some of the districts; a level of 15% is considered an emergency, with 30% or more being one of the indicators of famine. Tens of thousands of people have already died for reasons related to malnutrition in the last few months.

Ten of the fourteen UK based aid agencies that form the DEC membership are working in Somalia directly or through partners, including in some cases in the south or centre of the country.

DEC member agencies and their partners operate under strict rules of humanitarian impartiality and independence to ensure continued safe access to as many people in need of help as possible but the situation in Somalia is exceptionally challenging.

Activities of DEC members and their partners in Somalia include:

CARE is providing assistance with food, water, wells and cash to the most vulnerable households in Puntland and Somaliland.

Concern Worldwide is working in south and central Somalia providing food vouchers, water, household items and healthcare for malnourished children and mothers.

British Red Cross' partner in Somali is providing healthcare in Puntland and Somaliland, food for the most vulnerable and wells. It has also distributed seeds and tools in south and central Somalia ahead of hoped for rains.
Merlin is providing emergency healthcare and food in central Somalia, Puntland and Somaliland.

Save the Children is providing supplementary feeding for vulnerable children and cash to vulnerable households in Somaliland and Puntland.

Islamic Relief is providing food, water, sanitation and healthcare in Mogadishu, Somaliland, Puntland and South Central Somalia.

The humanitarian crisis in Somalia has been caused by a combination of factors including severe drought, rising food and fuel prices, chronic poverty and conflict. Unless sufficient levels of aid are raised there is a real risk of the famine spreading to all eight regions of southern Somalia and afflicted nearly 3 million people.

HAITI HEALTH CLUSTER BULLETIN #14 - PAGE 7 – 1/14/11:

Dr Armand Rakoto and Joliette Pierre from CRS Health team went on a field trip in the Artibonite and North departments (from 10–14 January 2011) to conduct BCC Training–of–Trainers sessions for Community Health Workers (CHWs) and Nursing staff. Target communes were: Milot, Limbé, Pilate, Gros Morne. CHWs from the sites (Hopital Sacré Coeur, Hopital Saint Jean de Limbé and Hopital Esperance de Pilate, Hopital Alma Mater) will organize community–level sensitization activities starting next week.

CRS staff has unloaded 120 containers (2100 metric tons) of vegetable oil and grains from the U.S. government which will be taken to their warehouse and then distributed to the growing number of camps. CRS has been asked by the United Nations to lead the response at one of the first formally organized camps, located at a golf course, where as many as 50,000 people are sleeping every night. It has arranged to supply the camp with water, food, and plastic sheeting for shelter, which continue to be trucked in from CRS warehouses in the neighboring Dominican Republic, where volunteers are working continuously to keep additional relief supplies coming.

Six medical teams have been formed to provide health care at shelters and area hospitals and CRS teams have already distributed medical supplies and drugs. In addition, Project C.U.R.E. has donated 3000 pounds of additional medical supplies that are en route. Three operating rooms at St. Francois de Sales Hospital—which withstood the quake — are now running, and surgeries are being performed on the most critically injured patients. Food, water and medical supplies have also been provided to the hospital. An AIDSRelief site, this is one of Haiti's oldest hospitals and one that CRS helped build. Its mission is to provide free care and treatment for the poor.

CRS is increasing its original $5 funding commitment and is planning an emergency response with an expectation of raising $25 million from its generous supporters for its relief effort.

CRS History in Haiti

Due to years of political and social instability, Haiti is the poorest country in the Western Hemisphere. Decades of poor governance, corruption and exploitation have left the country destitute of social, environmental and financial resources. Meanwhile, instability and the threat of kidnapping and other crimes have hampered the provision of basic services and the distribution of humanitarian services. The enormous gap in income distribution between the rich and poor, which ranks second in the world, makes reducing poverty and stimulating economic growth even more of a challenge. Haiti's other significant challenges include limited access to food, high malnutrition rates, and poor health and education services.

Catholic Relief Services began working in Haiti in 1954 after Hurricane Hazel devastated the country and killed upward of 1,000 people. High population density, severe deforestation and decaying infrastructure make Haiti particularly vulnerable to the effects of natural disasters such as hurricanes and floods.

In the beginning, CRS' work centered on responding to the massive loss of lives and physical destruction caused by the hurricane. However, since 1954 CRS Haiti has grown to include both emergency relief activities and long–term development work. CRS Haiti now focuses not only on emergency response, but on spurring economic growth for Haiti's poorest citizens through agriculture, natural resource management, and microfinance/small–business development. We also help Haitians by providing much–needed programs in education and health. CRS Haiti continues to support "safety net," or social welfare, centers such as children's homes and centers for the aged and dying.

Today, CRS Haiti has two offices, one in the capital of Port–au–Prince and a regional office in Les Cayes. There are approximately 240 CRS Haiti employees.

Catholic Relief Services partners in Haiti:

U.S. Agency for International Development

In March 2008, Catholic Relief Services Haiti began a five–year program with the U.S. Agency for International Development (USAID) Office of Food for Peace. As in the past, CRS makes use of USAID support to spur economic growth, provide access to quality health and education services, and to reduce vulnerability to natural disasters and other risks in southern Haiti. CRS Haiti also provides antiretroviral drug therapy, testing and counseling to people living with HIV or AIDS through the President's Emergency Plan for AIDS Relief.

Caritas Haiti

Caritas Internationalis is a confederation of 162 Catholic relief, development and social–service organizations worldwide. Caritas Haiti was created in 1975 by the Catholic Bishops' Conference of Haiti to build a more solid and just society in Haiti. CRS has worked closely with Caritas Haiti over the past 30 years in implementing numerous emergency response and development programs — notably in agriculture — that serve the poorest Haitians.

The Global Fund to Fight AIDS, Tuberculosis and Malaria

The Global Fund was created to dramatically increase resources to fight three of the world's most devastating diseases, and to direct those resources to areas of greatest need. CRS uses money from the Global Fund to offer services to 1,000 orphaned and vulnerable children in the Nippes department of Haiti.

UNICEF (The United Nations Children's Fund)

In Haiti, CRS partners with UNICEF in the areas of education and child protection. CRS and UNICEF work together to improve the quality of education in schools. We provide teacher and director training, distribute school materials, form and support parent–teacher associations, and provide training on health, hygiene and nutrition. In addition, CRS collaborates with UNICEF to combat child trafficking in the north by providing training to parents and communities on the risks, and by supporting those who have been victims of trafficking.

HAITI HEALTH CLUSTER BULLETIN #14 – PAGE 7 1/14/11:

Since November, CARE has reached a total of 439,086 people with sensitization in the Northwest, Artibonite, Grande Anse, Nippes, Léogâne and Carrefour.
In the camps of Léogâne and Carrefour, CARE has scaled up sensitization and hygiene promotion activities since mid–December. Indeed, apart from working with pre–established health committees or clubs and a network of volunteers, CARE has now identified, trained and engaged about 60 Community–based hygiene promotion sensitizers, to improve coverage in the communities.

The hiring of such daily workers has ensured that sensitization efforts were not discontinued through the holiday season. Therefore, since December, a total of 11,816 people (notably 2,028 – including 1,255 women – in the first week of January alone) have been reached with cholera prevention in the IDP camps of Léogâne and Carrefour.

In the Northwest Department, CARE reached an additional 12,740 people with sensitization activities between 18 December and 6 January, in Port–de–Paix, Chansolme, Bassin Bleu and Saint Louis du Nord. Overall, 155,688 people have now been reached by CARE teams in the department of the North West since the start of the epidemic.

HAITI HEALTH CLUSTER BULLETIN #14 – PAGE 10 – 1/14/11:

CARE has donated ORS sachets to the health committees of several vulnerable camps of Carrefour and Léogâne as measure to prepare for cholera.
In the Nippes Department, CARE has donated a comprehensive cholera kit to the MSPP, comprising of catheters, Hartmann's solution, water purification tablets, ORS sachets, antibiotics, gloves and jerry cans. The kit will cover the needs of four communes in the Department. A second cholera kit will be donated to the MSPP shortly.

Cholera and Breastfeeding:

http://www.ibfanasia.org/ife/CARECholeraandBreastfeeding.pdf

FROM THE SITE:

As of 24 February 2010, CARE had reached more than 241,000 people with distributions of food, PUR® water purification packets, water, jerry cans, hygiene kits, shelter kits, mattresses, blankets, newborn kits and clean delivery kits. To read more about the aid our teams are presently delivering on the ground, please click here.

CARE has 133 staff already working in Haiti, with extensive experience responding to disasters. CARE began operating in Haiti in 1954 to provide relief assistance after Hurricane Hazel. Today CARE's work in Haiti includes projects in HIV/AIDS, reproductive health, maternal and child health, education, food security, and water and sanitation.

(20 January, 2010) – CARE continued delivering aid to Haiti's hardest hit earthquake survivors Wednesday, despite security challenges, broken infrastructure, logistical roadblocks, and a severe aftershock that rocked Port–au–Prince in the early morning hours.

Over the last several days, CARE has brought clean water and water purification powder to some 14,000 people, and those efforts are scheduled to ramp up in the days to come. CARE also has distributed high–protein biscuits; 1,500 collapsible water containers; and 1,200 hygiene kits, targeting women left particularly vulnerable. And the organization has procured 5,000 mattresses that will be handed out in the coming days.

Shipments of PUR water purification powder, tents, first aid kits, hygiene kits and blankets are scheduled to arrive in Port–au–Prince today, with generators and more blankets scheduled to arrive later this week. The flow of aid will continue to increase over the coming days and weeks.

To ensure safe and efficient delivery, CARE works with community leaders to prepare and facilitate distributions. At its hub in Leogane, for example, CARE met with the town's leadership and logistics committees to finalize the distribution plan.

"The community wanted to be involved, and they came to the table with a plan," recounts Patrick Solomon, senior vice president of CARE's global support services, who participated in CARE's efforts in Leogane. "It was inspiring to see the community – and even local Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts – come together with CARE to distribute aid to their neighbors impacted by the earthquake."

In Leogane, aid distribution took place in the driveway of a telecommunications building, which is temporally occupied by the municipal authorities whose building was destroyed in the quake. The community leaders gave out chits to individuals in need, and when called upon, individuals were escorted by Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts to collect their items before being guided to the exit. Distributions are calm and orderly.

"The distribution in Leogane is an excellent example of how CARE works within communities to safely and successfully distribute much–needed supplies to those who need it most."

The humanitarian supply chain is getting stronger by the day, and distribution hubs have been established in the neighboring Dominican Republic and Panama, where supplies can be transferred over land or by plane. That has allowed for faster delivery of an increasing supply of aid, and despite its limited capacity the airport has handled more than 600 aircraft in the last week. CARE has sent three logisticians to ensure CARE shipments of aid arrive safely in Port–au–Prince and are quickly loaded onto trucks for swift distribution.

CARE recognizes the following partners for their generous donations and in–kind support of our emergency relief efforts: Abbott, Baxter, Cargill, CARFAX, Cox Enterprises, Inc., Delta Air Lines, General Mills, Goldman Sachs, Hanesbrands Inc., InterContinental Hotels Group, JPMorgan Chase, Microsoft, Pfizer, Potash, Procter & Gamble, Quiznos, Sealift, Symantec Corporation, Teavana, 3M, Troutman Sanders and UPS.

CARE Readies Operations in Haiti Following Devastating Earthquake
Source: CARE

Date: 12 Jan 2010

CARE is assessing the damage in Haiti and readying emergency response crews following a 7.0–magnitude earthquake centered just off the coast of one of the world's poorest countries. The scale of the disaster remains unclear, as CARE struggles to reach its staff and partners in Haiti. But initial reports indicate a major catastrophe.

CARE has worked in Haiti since 1954, when it provided relief assistance after Hurricane Hazel. Today CARE's programming there reflects an integrated approach, with projects in HIV/AIDS, reproductive health, maternal and child health, education, food security, and water and sanitation. CARE works closely with local NGOs, private companies, community organizations and the Haitian government to build local capacity and achieve sustainable development.

Among the CARE staff preparing to aid Haiti are relief workers who just last year helped the country recover from a series of hurricanes.

Habitat's response in Haiti
Habitat is implementing immediate relief efforts and addressing long–term shelter solutions for low–income families.

Based on current information and past experience with international disasters, Habitat is planning a multi–phrase strategy of response:

Phase one: relief

•Emergency shelter kits
Emergency shelter kits are designed to help families make immediate repairs and construct emergency shelter. They will be distributed to families by Habitat employees and partners.

•Re–establish operations
Habitat has been operating in Haiti for over 26 years, but the Habitat Haiti office building was destroyed in the earthquake. As part of our immediate response, it will be vital to assist Habitat Haiti in restoring its capacity to fully participate in the recovery efforts.
Phase two: rehabilitation

•Rehabilitation and cleanup
We will assist with the removal of debris and salvaging of materials that can be recycled into new shelter. We will also assist in the rehabilitation of homes that have repairable damages.
Phase three: reconstruction

•Transitional shelters and core houses
We plan to replace destroyed homes with transitional shelters. Improvements and additions to transitional shelters can be made over time—turning them into permanent core houses.
We will also rebuild in ways that reduce risk and improve construction quality in Port–au–Prince and surrounding areas.
Phase four: recovery

•Habitat Resource Centers
These centers are designed to enhance local systems that support housing development and improvements. Through the centers, we identify gaps in the local supply of housing materials, designs, finance and skills and provide services that support local livelihoods.

Subject: Habitat for Humanity in Haiti

Dear Friend of Habitat,
We thought you would want to know what Habitat for Humanity is doing in Haiti to help with the earthquake recovery effort. We understand that the Habitat for Humanity office in Haiti was destroyed and at least 10 of the 50 Habitat staff members based there are currently accounted for. No assessment has been possible yet of the approximately 2,000 Habitat homes built in Haiti, nor of those homeowners. Please pray for all the people of Haiti and for our teams there, as well as for the many humanitarian outreach efforts underway.

An assessment team from Habitat for Humanity International's Disaster Response department is currently making its way to Port–au–Prince from the Dominican Republic, which shares the island of Hispaniola with Haiti. Upon arrival they will make contact with the Haiti Habitat staff and begin assessments of the quake's impact. They in turn will connect with other organizations such as World Vision, World Concern and CARE, among others.

Many of have asked us about the need for volunteers. Volunteers are not being recruited or deployed at this time and will not be until the situation is more stable and Habitat can be certain its volunteers would be safe. Habitat for Humanity has been working in Haiti for more than 26 years and our hearts go out to everyone there.

In Partnership,
The staff of Habitat for Humanity North Central Massachusetts

Habitat for Humanity International is assessing the impact on affordable housing and response options in Haiti after a major earthquake struck near Port–au–Prince on Tuesday

PORT–AU–PRINCE, Haiti (Jan. 13, 2010) — Habitat for Humanity International will respond to a 7.0 earthquake near Port–au–Prince and is currently assessing the impact on affordable housing.

“Habitat for Humanity will mobilize all available resources to address shelter solutions for low–income families affected by the 7.0 magnitude earthquake that struck Haiti on Tuesday,” said Torre Nelson, area vice president of Habitat’s Latin America Caribbean office. “We are closely monitoring the situation and have been in contact with Habitat for Humanity Haiti. We will begin Habitat’s recovery efforts as soon as possible.”

“Habitat for Humanity is sending an assessment team into the impacted area,” said Kip Scheidler, senior director of Global Disaster Response at Habitat for Humanity. “Once we know the full magnitude of this disaster, we’ll begin Habitat’s recovery process.”

Habitat has been at work in Haiti for 26 years and will use its local expertise and mobilize resources as part of the rebuilding efforts. Habitat has provided more than 2,000 families with housing solutions through a variety of initiatives, including new home construction, progressive building, home repairs and improvements. It also builds capacity in construction skills, disaster mitigation and financial literacy and works in coordination with community and government agencies.

Early media reports estimate that 3 million people were affected. Haiti’s ambassador to the U.S. has called the quake a “catastrophe of major proportions.”

Habitat’s ability to respond effectively to this disaster will require support from donors, volunteers, corporate partners and other community organizations. Donations can be made at https://www.habitat.org/cd/giving/donate.aspx?link=227.

CARE Sends Relief Items to Northern Japan
Source: CARE
Date: 18 Mar 2011

ATLANTA (March 18, 2011) – Today, CARE is sending a convoy of vehicles packed with relief items to Iwate prefecture in northern Japan to assist people affected by the massive earthquake and tsunami that struck the country last Friday. CARE will distribute relief items including toilet paper, water, face masks, sanitary tissues, biscuits, fruit and small portions of rice. CARE also will be coordinating with other organizations and local governments to assist people there in need for the next 12 to 18 months.

Our hearts go out to the people of Japan as they face an unprecedented "triple" disaster of high complexity: earthquake, tsunami and damage to a nuclear plant. The outpouring of support has been inspiring and we thank our donors for their generosity.

At this time, CARE USA has raised enough funds to support its initial emergency response activities in Japan. We are no longer seeking additional donations. As our colleagues in Japan continue to assess the situation and determine how CARE can add value to the overall emergency response, our position may change.

It is important to remember that there are millions of people suffering around the world because of crushing poverty and emergencies. Please help save lives by supporting CARE's poverty–fighting and emergency response work in more than 70 countries around the globe.

CARE Japan was founded in 1987 and implements programs on education as well as water and sanitation projects in developing countries. CARE Japan is part of CARE International, a leading humanitarian organization fighting global poverty. Working side by side with poor people in 70 countries, CARE helps empower communities to address the greatest threats to their survival. Women are at the heart of CARE's efforts to improve health, education and economic development because experience shows that a woman's achievements yield dramatic benefits for her entire family. CARE is also committed to providing lifesaving assistance during times of crisis, and helping rebuild safer, stronger communities afterward. We advocate for policies that defend the dignity of all people and promote the eradication of poverty.

CARE Japan assists Japanese emergency response

Source: CARE

Tokyo, March 14, 2011. CARE Japan will assist the ongoing emergency response in Japan after the massive earthquake and tsunami. New numbers of casualties and destruction are coming in by the hour, and people who have lost houses are in need of assistance. "Everyone is in shock. Japan has one of the best disaster response measures worldwide in place, but a disaster on this scale simply overwhelms everything", says Katsuhiko Takeda, National Director of CARE Japan.

Generally, CARE does only respond in developing countries that often have limited infrastructure and capacity to help survivors of natural disasters. However, this was the worst earthquake on record in Japan followed by a ten–meter high tsunami and the destruction is massive. Many homes are without electricity, roads are destroyed and people are running out of food, water and gas supply. The number of casualties currently stands at 1,647 with more than 1,720 people missing, however, this could change significantly over the next days. While the attention is currently focused on the nuclear radiation threat, survivors of the quake and the tsunami need food, drinking water, blankets, fuel and medical items.

"This major disaster goes beyond everything that we have seen. We are deeply concerned about the survivors and need to move quickly to assist them with essential relief items", Katsuhiko Takeda says. The level of destruction is not clear yet and it will likely take some more days until a full picture of the damage emerges. Continuing aftershocks are hampering relief efforts to bring much needed food, water and blankets to survivors.

Vulnerability being a reality of peoples' lives influenced Sungi's rights based development approach to include disaster management as one of the main elements and cross cutting theme. Sungi responded to a number of disasters including "South Asian Earthquake 2005" & "IDPs Crisis 2008–09", contributed significantly and added the learning in its institutional capacity of humanitarian response through its organized and trained community organizations.

In view of the disaster prone nature of Sungi's working areas and experience gained in this regard. Sungi is committed to provide humanitarian assistance to vulnerable sections of society and develop capacities of the marginalized women, men and children to mitigate and respond to disasters. Developing resilient communities is the main objective of Sungi's disaster management programme. Cascading effects of the natural and man–made disasters would be minimized by preparing communities to respond to emergencies as first responders and provide timely relief as disasters strike.

Disaster Management Programme has three thematic areas: Preparedness & Mitigation; Emergency Response; and Advocacy.

Sungi developed disaster management committees and emergency response teams in the most vulnerable areas, based on the vulnerability mapping. This is one of the tested sustainable models of community based disaster management.

Sungi is a member of HAP (Humanitarian Accountability Partnership) International. Sungi follows humanitarian standards in emergency response in addition to this Sungi is stepping forward for HAP certification by ensuring accountability principles in its work.
