The Humane Society of Boulder Valley –– which is housing 10 pets amid the Fourmile Fire evacuations –– is holding a special donation drive from now until Wednesday.

The Humane Society of Boulder Valley Thrift and Gift Shop is collecting clothing, furniture and household items at its shop at 5320 Arapahoe Ave. in Boulder from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. this week.

All of the donated items will then be provided to evacuees for free from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. on Thursday and Friday.

The humane society is continuing to provide temporary shelter and care for about 10 dogs, cats and small mammals displaced from their homes due to the wildfires.

All evacuee pets are receiving free vaccinations and medical care, and guardians have the option to have their pets spayed or neutered and microchipped if they'd like. Guardians are able to come visit their pets and volunteers and staff are playing with the animals, petting cats and walking dogs.

The humane society is also providing free pet food and supplies to anyone affected by the fire including dog and cat food, treats, beds, cat litter and litter boxes, crates or carriers and toys along with blankets and towels.

Items may be picked up at the shelter at 2323 55th Street in Boulder. It's open from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Monday through Friday and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

Employees at the shelter say its biggest need is cash donations, which can be made online at www.boulderhumane.org or by texting PETS to 50555*.

The shelter has received abundant donations of food, cat litter, leashes, blankets and towels so these things are no longer needed.

The shelter is also collecting Zipper reclosable bags in all sizes; paper towels; dog and cat toys; stainless steel food bowls; peanut butter; high–density laundry detergent; and brown paper lunch bags.

FROM THE SITE:

Shelter Hours:
Mon – Fri: 11 a.m. – 7 p.m.
Sat – Sun: 10 am – 5 pm

We are currently providing temporary shelter for 50+ dogs, cats and small mammals displaced from their homes due to the wildfires in Boulder's Fourmile Canyon. We have transferred some of our adoption animals to other animal shelters in the metro area to make more room available here to house the animals of our community members in need.

Information for Evacuees and Displaced Homeowners:

If you need housing for your dog, cat or small mammals, please come to the shelter during our normal business hours or call City of Boulder Animal Care & Control after hours at 303–441–3333. The Red Cross shelter at the Boulder YMCA at 2850 Mapleton Ave. will allow pets - we are providing people to help with pets during the day as needed. Guardians will need to feed, walk and care for their pets overnight. If you need help rescuing an animal in the evacuation area, call Boulder County Animal Control 720–564–2942.

We are providing the following free supplies for pets:

* Dry and wet dog and cat food
* Cat litter and litter boxes
* Treats
* Dog & cat crates/carriers
* Blankets

You may pick up items at our shelter at 2323 55th Street in Boulder. Open 11 a.m.–7 p.m. Monday–Friday, 10 a.m.–5 p.m. Saturday–Sunday. Thanks to the generosity of the community and our partners at Purina and PetsMart for making it possible for us to provide these essential pet needs.

If You Need Clothing or Household Items:

We are conducting a special donation drive Thursday, September 9 – Wednesday, September 15 at our Thrift & Gift Shop for clothing, furniture and household items for evacuees. All items will be provided to evacuees FREE of charge 10 a.m.–5:30 p.m. on Thursday, September 16 and Friday, September 17.

If You Would Like to Help:

Our greatest need at the shelter is cash donations. Donate online or give $10 by texting PETS to 50555*. Volunteer assistance may be needed with laundry, cleaning and accepting donations – please contact our Volunteer Information Center at 303–442–4030, ext. 654.

We are conducting a special donation drive Thursday, September 9 – Wednesday, September 15 at our Thrift & Gift Shop for clothing, furniture and household items for evacuees. Donations accepted at our Thrift Shop at 5320 Arapahoe Avenue in Boulder from 10 a.m. – 4 p.m. Monday – Friday and 10 a.m. – 3 p.m. on Saturday. Click here for donation guidelines.

*$10 will be added to your mobile phone bill/deducted from your prepaid account. Message and Data Rates May Apply. Reply STOP to 50555 to stop. Full Terms: mGive.org/T.

2010 FourMile Canyon Fire

Mental health and grief counseling

Losing or incurring damage to a home can be disorienting, confusing and emotionally difficult for people. As a result, residents may desire some support and guidance in handling the uncertainties of what to do next and the grief associated with this loss. To help support residents returning to the burn area, Boulder County is offering counseling and support for individuals and families directly affected by the fire.

CLARIFICATION: At this time, mental health counselors and victim advocates are available in the reopened areas of the burn area for returning residents who want counseling and support services. The Mental Health Center for Boulder and Broomfield Counties has established a resource table near each of the security check points leading into the opened areas.

The following locations, which have been identified as future counseling centers, remain closed:

• Fourmile Canyon, Salina Little Church of the Pines
• Sunshine Fire Station
• Gold Hill Community Center

Victim Advocate services are also available at the Assistance Center, Boulder County Sundquist Building, 3482 N. Broadway (Iris and Broadway), Boulder. The assistance center is open Monday–Friday, 8 a.m.–6 p.m. Call 303-441-3560 for more information.

Fourmile Fire: 92 structures destroyed, 8 damaged

Web Staff KDVR Denver
9:11 PM MDT, September 7, 2010

BOULDER COUNTY, Colo. – Firefighting resources from across the nation continued to arrive in Boulder County Tuesday evening as local, state and federal fire crews tried to gain the upper hand on a wildfire that had already burned 100 structures, many of them homes.

The Fourmile Canyon Fire was estimated at 7,100 acres with zero percent containment.

"Aviation resources today were very helpful in helping firefighters gain ground," said Laura McConnell with the Boulder County Incident Management Team during an evening press conference. "However, the potential for fire spread is still pretty high."

Multiple air tankers took advantage of calmer winds Tuesday and attacked the fire with a steady barrage of slurry. Officials say more than 90,000 gallons of retardant were dropped on the fire before aircraft had to be grounded due to darkness.

Hand crews remained on the ground into the evening.

"We had two hot shot crews...20 person crews...constructing lines on the north half and west sides of the fire," McConnell said. She said the main growth Tuesday was to the northeast and southeast.

After conducting an "incomplete" survey of damage within the fire perimeter, officials said at least 92 structures had been destroyed and 8 damaged.

Gov. Ritter, who toured the fire zone earlier in the day, declared a state emergency, authorizing $5 million in state funds to be used to combat the fire. He said it was the largest amount of state monies allocated to a firefighting effort since the 2002 Hayman Fire which destroyed 133 homes in Park and Teller Counties, southwest of Denver.

"Everyone is fully engaged in doing all we can to fight this fire and protect property and structures," Gov. Ritter said. "This is still a very volatile fire."

Boulder County Sheriff Joe Pelle, who joined Ritter on the tour, said nine volunteer firefighters had lost their homes.

"This is a very serious fire for us," Pelle said. "We have literally exhausted all of our local resources."

More than 3,000 people in 70 subdivisions have been evacuated.

David Myers knew it was time to leave when he looked out into the forest and spotted bright red flames towering skyward. Then came a blinding cloud of smoke and a deafening roar as the fire ripped through the wilderness.

"You can hear just this consumption of fuel, just crackling and burning. And the hardest thing is ... you couldn't see it because at the point the smoke was that thick," he said.

Myers said Tuesday afternoon that people told him they believed his house was destroyed.

Gov. Ritter, alluding to tension between firefighters and local evacuees, said it was important for residents to remain patient despite the difficult, emotional situation.

"The most important thing is to allow firefighters to do their business," Ritter said. "And that can only happen if they're not having to argue with people about re-evacuating or evacuating from their property."

The evacuation area includes communities east of the Peak-to-Peak Highway, south of Lefthand Canyon Drive and north of Boulder Canyon Drive (Colo. Highway 119).

No addition evacuations were ordered Tuesday, beyond those who had already been forced from their homes the day before.

No injuries or deaths have been reported, and there are no reports of missing persons, Pelle said.

Winds pushed the fire through three canyons where disease, drought and beetles that burrow under the bark have killed pine trees. The so-called bark beetles have killed more than 3.5 million acres of trees in Colorado and southeastern Wyoming, and the dead trees are seen as a significant wildfire threat.

At least 200 firefighters, including crews from Wyoming and outside the region, were battling the wildfire. Crews managed to save the historic town of Gold Hill, including an Old West grocery store and structures once used for stagecoach stops.

The fire was first reported at about 10:00 a.m. Monday morning in 7100 block of Fourmile Canyon Dr. where witnesses say a vehicle hit a propane tank, causing an explosion.

Pelle said the official cause of the fire was still under investigation.

Four Mile Canyon Fire Animal Relief Effort

Unfortunately we will not be able to accept surrenders from the general public while we accommodate these victims from the Four Mile Canyon Fire. We ARE accepting animals from families who have been displaced by the fire and our intake desk is open from 9AM–7PM to serve you.

We have great needs for the following at this time:

1) Canned Cat food
2) Non–clumping kitty litter or pine pellets.

3) Monetary donations to offset the overtime costs associated with care and sheltering these animals.

At this time we do NOT need dog food, thanks to everyone who has brought some by.

We can also use the following: hand sanitizers, small/medium size dog/cat treats. canned tuna (in water), Kong dog toys (preferably black).

If you are unable to get to LHS to drop off donations Camp Bow Wow has graciously offered to serve as a drop off point. You can view their Denver area locations at www.campbowwowusa.com. Much thanks to Camp Bow Wow!

Large animals and livestock are being housed at Boulder County Fairgrounds. Please contact Boulder Valley Emergency Services or the fairgrounds if you believe you may have large animals there. We have had a ranch made available to us to accept the overflow situation we now face.

Thanks to everyone who has already donated. Please visit the "Donate" portion of our Website if you wish to make a monetary donation. In the payment instructions portion of the donation page be sure to indicate 4 Mile Canyon Fire animal fund

We are fully staffed to care for your pets affected by this fire and they will be well cared for until you are ready to return home. Our thoughts and prayers to the families displaced by the fire.

2010 FourMile Canyon Fire

Mental health and grief counseling

Losing or incurring damage to a home can be disorienting, confusing and emotionally difficult for people. As a result, residents may desire some support and guidance in handling the uncertainties of what to do next and the grief associated with this loss. To help support residents returning to the burn area, Boulder County is offering counseling and support for individuals and families directly affected by the fire.

CLARIFICATION: At this time, mental health counselors and victim advocates are available in the reopened areas of the burn area for returning residents who want counseling and support services. The Mental Health Center for Boulder and Broomfield Counties has established a resource table near each of the security check points leading into the opened areas.

The following locations, which have been identified as future counseling centers, remain closed:

• Fourmile Canyon, Salina Little Church of the Pines
• Sunshine Fire Station
• Gold Hill Community Center

Victim Advocate services are also available at the Assistance Center, Boulder County Sundquist Building, 3482 N. Broadway (Iris and Broadway), Boulder. The assistance center is open Monday–Friday, 8 a.m.–6 p.m. Call 303–441–3560 for more information.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
September 15, 2010
Media contact: Emergency Operations Center, 720-564-2935
Updated Fourmile fire neighborhood re-entry information as of 10 a.m. Wednesday

Boulder County, Colo. - As of noon today, the entire area affected by the Fourmile fire will be reopened to returning residents.

While significant safety issues still exist within the burn area, the Boulder County Sheriff's Office is restricting access only to returning residents and their designated parties. Residents will continue to need to get passes to gain entry into their neighborhoods until the entire area is opened to the public. Form (PDF) to register for an access pass. Passes are available at the Boulder County Justice Center at 1777 Sixth St. (Sixth and Canyon) and will be distributed throughout the week during regular business hours, Monday through Friday, 8 a.m.-4:30 p.m.

Roads reopening on Wednesday, Sept. 15:

Effective at 12 noon today the entire fire area will be open to residents. Dixon Rd past Rim Rd will remain closed until 2 p.m. while crews work on installing new utility poles in that area.

As of noon today, the following Access Point locations will require a pass for entry:

* Lickskillet at Lefthand Rd.
* 10100 Goldhill Rd.
* 8200 Fourmile Canyon
* 4100 Fourmile Canyon
* 4221 Sunshine Canyon

Residents should be advised that some areas continue to have no power or phone service. Emergency officials have placed a satellite phone at the Sunshine Canyon Fire station located at 311 CR 83 should emergency phone service become necessary. Victims' advocates will be in the neighborhood to assist residents as they return.

Residents of the evacuated areas and contractors working with residents in the area are advised that, while the fire line has been completely 'contained,' many hazards and health & safety concerns remain within the fire perimeter area. The primary concern at this time is the safety and security of residents going into areas that have sustained significant infrastructure losses from the fire.

The Sheriff's Office also wants to maintain open access for emergency personnel and firefighters still working in the area. Fire recovery efforts are actively underway, and emergency personnel and firefighters appreciate having unobstructed access to those areas that pose a risk for further fire activity.

While active fire conditions have been mostly extinguished, much of the scorched ground is still warm or hot to the touch, and there remain many obstacles and dangers within the entire burned area. These include: downed power lines and poles, fire hot spots, infrastructure damage to roads and rights of way, lack of working utilities (phone, water, electricity), concerns about potable water quality and propane tank integrity, and exposed mine shafts.

Updated Fourmile Canyon wildfire information as of noon on Thursday

Boulder County, Colo. - Because of worsening weather predictions that have increased the potential for high winds and more active fire behavior this afternoon, Boulder County officials are rescinding the prior decision to open certain neighborhoods in the evacuation area.

At 10 a.m. today, certain communities within the evacuation area were opened to allow residents to gather what they need from their homes and be prepared to evacuate again. Those areas will now be closed as of 12:30 p.m., and all residents who entered those areas are asked to leave under a mandatory evacuation order as of 2 p.m. today.

The areas include:

• Boulder Heights
• Pine Brook Hills
• Carriage Hills
• Olde Stage Road
• Lee Hill Drive

PLEASE NOTE: Utilities such as electricity, gas and phones remain off in most of these areas. Since phones are out, residents should not rely on reverse citizen notification to inform them about new evacuations. Sheriff's deputies will be patrolling the neighborhoods to let people know they need to evacuate again by 2 p.m.

Additionally, the openings of Lefthand Canyon Drive, Sunshine Canyon Drive, Fourmile Canyon Drive and Sugarloaf Road that were tentatively scheduled for 2 p.m. today have been cancelled. Residents should not attempt to return to their homes if they live along any of those roads.

County seeking contact with evacuees

Boulder County, Colo. - Boulder County is asking that all residents who have been evacuated due to the Fourmile Canyon wildfire please contact the county.

It is important that all evacuated residents make contact as soon as possible so the county can assist displaced residents with the recovery process in an efficient, timely manner.

Residents are asked to email edonaghey[at]bouldercounty.org and provide the following information:

· Full name
· Address of affected residence
· Is this a primary or secondary residence?
· Have you received notification that your residence is damaged or destroyed?
· Phone number where you can be immediately reached
· Do you need long-term housing (non-shelter) assistance?

Fourmile Canyon wildfire information

Boulder County, Colo. - Boulder County officials provided updated information about the Fourmile Canyon wildfire at a press briefing at 8 p.m. Tuesday. An additional news briefing will be held Wednesday at 9 a.m. at the Boulder County Justice Center located at Sixth Street and Canyon Boulevard in Boulder.

No injuries or deaths as a result of the fire have been reported.
The Fourmile Canyon wildfire has grown to at least 7,100 acres in size and forced the mandatory evacuation of more than 3,000 residents living in the steep, rugged and heavily forested foothills west of the City of Boulder. Teams are on site to catalog burned structures and to investigate the fire's cause and origin.

A map of the burn area and evacuation perimeter is posted online.

More than 200 firefighters, from at least 35 local, regional and national agencies are working to contain the active fire. Eight air tankers and three helicopters joined the effort. Due to a thick inversion layer limiting visibility, air tankers were unable take off Tuesday morning, but dropped more than 93,000 gallons of fire retardant later in the day.

Communities east of the Peak–to–Peak Highway, south of Lefthand Canyon Drive, west of Olde Stage Road and north of Boulder Canyon Drive (Colo. Highway 119) will remain evacuated until further notice. Residents will be informed when any evacuations have been lifted.

The emergency shelter at the Coors Events Center located on the University of Colorado campus in Boulder is closed. A new overnight emergency shelter has opened at the Boulder YMCA located at 2850 Mapleton Ave. Food, water and insurance resources are available courtesy of the American Red Cross.

Boulder County has animal control officers on scene conducting animal evacuations when site access becomes available. Animal evacuation information can be obtained by calling 720–564–2942.

An incident call center has been established to assist city and county residents affected by the wildfire. Residents are asked to contact the call center at 303–413–7730 instead of calling 911 unless there is an emergency to report. Information is also available at www.boulderoem.com.

Boulder County is the sixth most populous of the 64 counties of the State of Colorado of the United States. The United States Census Bureau estimates that the county population was 282,304 in 2006.[1] The county seat is the City of Boulder. The Boulder Metropolitan Statistical Area comprises Boulder County.

Geography

According to the U.S. Census Bureau, the county has a total area of 751 square miles (1,946 km^2), of which 742 square miles (1,923 km^2) is land and 9 square miles (23 km^2) (1.19%) is water.

Adjacent counties

* Larimer County, Colorado – north
* Weld County, Colorado – east
* City and County of Broomfield, Colorado – southeast
* Jefferson County, Colorado – south
* Gilpin County, Colorado – south
* Grand County, Colorado – west

Demographics

As of the census[4] of 2000, there were 271,651 people, 114,680 households, and 68,808 families residing in the county. The population density was 392 people per square mile (151/km^2). There were 119,900 housing units at an average density of 162 per square mile (62/km^2). The racial makeup of the county was 88.54% White, 0.88% Black or African American, 0.61% Native American, 3.06% Asian, 0.06% Pacific Islander, 4.67% from other races, and 2.18% from two or more races. 10.46% of the population were Hispanic or Latino of any race.

There were 114,680 households out of which 30.70% had children under the age of 18 living with them, 48.90% were married couples living together, 7.70% had a female householder with no husband present, and 40.00% were non–families. 26.30% of all households were made up of individuals and 5.50% had someone living alone who was 65 years of age or older. The average household size was 2.47 and the average family size was 3.03.

In the county the population was spread out with 22.90% under the age of 18, 13.40% from 18 to 24, 33.60% from 25 to 44, 22.30% from 45 to 64, and 7.80% who were 65 years of age or older. The median age was 33 years. For every 100 females there were 102.20 males. For every 100 females age 18 and over, there were 101.70 males.

The median income for a household in the county was $55,861, and the median income for a family was $70,572. Males had a median income of $48,047 versus $32,207 for females. The per capita income for the county was $28,976. About 4.60% of families and 9.50% of the population were below the poverty line, including 7.60% of those under age 18 and 5.90% of those age 65 or over.

County Government

Boulder County is divided into three individual districts each represented by a commissioner elected county–wide. The three commissioners comprise the county Board of Commissioners and represent the county as a whole. Each commissioner must reside in their respective district and may be elected to a maximum of two four–year terms. The current commissioners are Ben Pearlman (vice–chair), Will Toor, and Cindy Domenico (chair).

The Board of County Commissioners are full–time public servants and as such approve the budget for the entire County government. The Board also oversees the management of 10 County departments and the daily operations of the county, work that is done by a county manager or a chief administrative officer in some counties.

In addition to the commissioners Boulder County has seven other county–wide elected officials including the District Attorney, who represents the 20th Judicial District.

Released 7 September 2010

The Salvation Army has activated a mobile kitchen and cold truck in response to the FourMile Canyon Fire in Boulder.

As of 5:15am, more than 450 meals have been served to first responders to the FOURMILE Canyon fire in Boulder County.

At 11pm on Monday evening, the command center was moved to the Mesa Table Blvd., location along with The Salvation Army mobile kitchen that is providing food and hydration to the command staff and other first responders.

Breakfast will be served beginning at 6am this morning and The Salvation Army is been asked to prepare 300 meals. Breakfast will consist of omelets, hash browns, sausage patty, coffee, juice and fruit.

The Salvation Army will be providing meals and hydration throughout the day including lunch and dinner this evening. The kitchen and cold truck will remain on site as long as necessary to support this effort.

If donors wish to help The Salvation Army, they can call 1–800 SAL ARMY or go to the website, DenverSalvationArmy.org to make a donation and earmark the donation to Emergency Disaster Services.

As of 9pm, more than 450 meals were served this evening and meals are being prepared for those fire fighters staffing the lines overnight. The current mission for The Salvation Army mobile kitchens (canteens) is to provide food and hydration to first responders of the FourMile Fire.

Those first responders are fire fighters; law enforcement members providing security, crowd and traffic control in the affected areas; Emergency Medical Technicians supporting the efforts; and the command and control staff that is coordinating the fire efforts at the command center. The canteens are located at 6th and Canyon at the command center at the Criminal Justice Center

The Salvation Army will remain overnight and prepare breakfast for the crews fighting the fires. Breakfast will start to be served beginning at 6AM.

The on–site media is also offered food and hydration in order to keep them feed and hydrated in order to provide continued coverage to the public of the changing situation.
