Service Temporary

Currently there are two short term medical teams at work organizing supplies, diagnosing patients and even performing some surgeries. The tangible love of Jesus has been poured out to the desperate and poor as God's children offer themselves as the hands and feet of the Body of Christ. While doctors and nurses were hard at work inside the clinic with patients, others were outside gathering a crowd with dance, spoken word, and preaching the gospel. The people have responded with joy and thankfulness to the love they've received and are moving forward despite their dire situation. In fact, in many cases the faith and endurance of the Haitian people has challenged those here helping who have the option of returning to better living conditions.

There is, and will continue to be, great need for short–term relief teams to come and invest their time and skills. But the problems here are as much complex as they are desperate, and there is now a cry of help that pleads a response from those that God has called to Haiti for the long–term.
