2021 Earthquake
On August 12, 2021 a destructive 7.2 magnitude earthquake hit the southern coast of Haiti. More than 2,000 people were killed and upwards of 650,000 were left in need of assistance.

In partnership with local organizations, Project Medishare has provided over 200,000 lbs of medication, medical and essential supplies. We have also distributed more than 7,000 food and hygiene kits to affected families. We continue to deploy our medical staff to conduct a series of mobile clinics, offering our services in some of the hardest hit areas, as well as provide training for local midwives and community healthcare workers, ensuring they have knowledge and resources long into the future. Residents of these remote areas previously had limited health care services, and in the aftermath of the earthquake had no health clinics or hospitals at all. Over a period of 9-months our mobile clinics have seen a total of 1,100 patients.

2016 Hurricane Matthew
Hurricane Matthew struck Haiti on October 4, 2016 as a Category 4 hurricane. The intense effects of wind, coastal flooding and severe rain caused massive destruction in Southern Haiti.

Immediately, Project Medishare medical staff deployed to Jeremie, one of the hardest hit areas. In collaboration with Hospital Bernard Mevs we organized a coalition of community-based, Haitian-led organizations to provide much needed health care and emergency aid that continued through 2017.

Project Medishare provided 110 tons of essential supplies to affected families, including water purification tablets, mosquito nets, medications, and food and hygiene kits. Our staff and groups of medical volunteers delivered critical medical care to more than 4,000 patients.
